Nine Mansfielders Injured In Mishaps

Nine Mansfielders were injured in traffic accidents over the week end, five of them in mishaps in and near the city. Police said it was one of the largest week-end accident totals this summer. Three of the 15 accidents reported caused injury to four persons.

A 16-year-old Mansfield youth was injured when his car struck a utility pole on Bowman street. Injured were: Mr. and Mrs. Orville A. Frye, 138 East Fourth street. Lemarr E. Frye, 75 East Fourth street.

Miss Elsie Wharton, Mansfield, R. D. 4. (All four, reportedly injured in a traffic accident yesterday in London, were confined today in People's hospital).

Hurtice Nolen, 19, 538 Lida street. Mrs. Garland M. Myers, 49, of the same address.

Garland M. Myers, 49, of the rear 426 Woodland avenue. John D. Aumend, 23, 552 Lida street.

Paul Glen Harper, 16, 200 Harker street.

CYCLE HITS CAR Nolen, reported in "fair" condition at General hospital, suffered a sprained left shoulder, and facial cuts when his motorcycle was in collision with a car driven by Harry T. Purney, 232 Parkway drive at North Main street and Olive street at 12:30 a. m. Sunday.

Police said Nolen was traveling north on North Main street and that Purney was approaching Main street at the intersection. Mr. and Mrs. Myers were injured when the Safety cab in which they were riding collided with a car in front of 58 Harker street. Mrs. Myers suffered a fractured left hip and Myers head injuries. Police said the accident occurred shortly after midnight Saturday.

LIGHTS DIM Paul R. Rice, 297 Lind avenue, driver of the cab, said the headlights of the cab were so dim he couldn't use them. Driver of the car, Emanuel E. Craze, 193 Buckingham street, told officers he didn't see the cab coming until it was too late to stop. Rice said that the car swerved to his side of the street and hit the cab head-on.

Both drivers were cited to traffic court Wednesday at 1:30 p. m. Rice will answer a charge of failing to display lights and Craze will be cited on unsafe operation.

Mrs. Myers remained in General hospital today with a fractured left hip. She was reported in fair condition. Myers, who sustained head injuries, was released today.

ASLEEP AT WHEEL Aumend suffered head lacerations when he reportedly fell asleep at the wheel of his Veterans cab at 5:45 a. m. Sunday and rammed a utility pole in front of 205 South Main street.

There were no passengers in the cab at the time of the accident. He was reported in "good" condition at General hospital.

Sheriff's deputies reported that the Harper youth was injured about 8:10 p. m. Sunday when the car he was driving hit a utility pole, two miles north of the city on Bowman street road and then plunged into a swamp. The boy also was reported in "good" condition at General hospital today.

War Dead Arrive OAKLAND, Cal. — (AP) — The funeral ship Sgt. Morris Crain arrived from Manila today with the remains of 1,941 Americans who died in the war. Most of the bodies originally were buried in New Guinea and the Philippines.

Living Costs Still Climb (By United Press) The cost of living, which reached an all-time high in May, still is climbing, a survey showed today. Meat prices are at an all-time peak, and meat industry spokesmen said there is no hope of a price break until September at the earliest.

On the brighter side, fresh vegetable prices in many areas have declined recently because of the seasonal shipment of vegetables to market. However, the Bureau of Labor statistics at Washington predicted that longer-range seasonal pressures would bring a slow, steady climb in most food prices until November.

The bureau also noted that rent generally is rising. Price increases have been announced or are anticipated momentarily on several basic commodities.

Area Youth One of 7 Victims In Ohio Drowning Tragedies

Former Willard Man Dies

Diving Injury Proves Fatal

Joseph T. Murray, 19, drowned late Saturday night while wading in the Vermilion river near his home at Fitchville, four miles west of New London. He was one of at least seven victims claimed in water tragedies throughout Ohio over the week end.

Murray, who apparently could not swim, was wading in shallow water when he stepped into a deep pool. His body was recovered by two friends, Eddie Ganz and Harvey Wilson, who vainly applied artificial respiration for 30 minutes.

A doctor who arrived after that period of time found that further attempts to resuscitate Murray would be futile, pronouncing him dead.

Murray was the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Murray of Fitchville. The body is at the Sackett funeral home in New London. Funeral services will be Tuesday at 9 a. m. in Our Lady of Lourdes Catholic church, conducted by Rev. John Duffy, with burial in Wakeman.

FATALLY HURT IN DIVE Included in the list of Ohio water victims was Vernon Rowland Skinner of Norwalk, whose funeral will be held Tuesday at 2:30 p. m. (EST) at the Secor funeral home in Willard with Rev. C. D. Right officiating. Burial will be in the New Haven cemetery, two miles east of Willard.

Skinner died early Sunday morning at the Norwalk Memorial hospital in Norwalk as a result of injuries sustained when he dived off a pier at Huron Beach, Huron. He suffered a broken neck and a large head injury.

Born in Willard, Oct. 9, 1918, he attended Willard schools and served as a private in the U. S. Army. He had lived in Norwalk for two years, at 48 North Lincoln street, and was employed at the New Departure plant in Sandusky.

Surviving are his widow, Alice; his daughter, Linda, age four months; parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer E. Skinner, Willard; one sister, Mrs. Betty Welch, Akron; (Continued on Page 2)

Aid Program Now a Law WASHINGTON — (AP) — The $6,000,000 foreign aid program became law today. President Truman signed the appropriation bill swinging America full force into the most ambitious world economic program in history.

It pledges to Western Europe and Far Eastern countries to spend within 15 months—within a year if necessary—this vast sum in the cause of recovery and political freedom. Authors of the bill also made it clear that the intent also is to throw up a barrier against the spread of communism by strengthening governments outside of the iron curtain.

"It was evolved in the spirit of cooperation and not of partisan conflict," Mr. Truman continued. "It demonstrates the united determination of our people to make good our pledge of cooperation to those who, like ourselves, are striving to achieve enduring peace and prosperity among all nations."

Action Delayed On Stratovision WASHINGTON — (AP) — A Federal Communications commission hearing on the application of Westinghouse Radio Stations, Inc., to use television channel No. 8 for stratovision broadcasting in the vicinity of Pittsburgh was postponed today until July 19.

The company proposes to broadcast over a 200-mile radius, using an airplane as a relay station. It is asking, therefore, that channel 8 not be assigned to any other city in that vicinity and that the proposed assignment of the channel to York, Pa., be canceled.

FLEEPS BIRD PET—Mrs. Herman Bishop, 767 Park avenue west, provides a "hamburger luncheon" for the baby wood thrush which has "adopted" the Bishop family.

Baby Thrush Eats Hamburg, Too

Family Digs Worms For Friendly Bird

By NITA BRANSON A month-old baby wood thrush has "adopted" the Herman Bishop family at 767 Park avenue west. Small as he is, "Speckles" has upset the family routine almost as completely as might a small puppy. The family literally is digging worms for him.

The bird adopted the family in appreciation of services rendered. Mrs. Bishop two weeks ago found "Speckles" wandering about the backyard disconsolately chirping for food.

She took the bird in the house and fed it of all things—hamburger. "Speckles" ate with astonishing relish considering his "born-to-fishworms" appetite.

Unafraid and happy, "Speckles" makes friends with visitors as well as members of the family. He went to sleep on this reporter's finger without ruffling a feather.

"He is so smart. When he wants to go outdoors, he hops to the screen and scratches it, then hops back to me," Mrs. Bishop related. "I let him out in the yard, perhaps for as long as an hour but when I call him, he comes hopping right back in. He likes fishworms but he won't dig for them. If I dig them, he comes running up and eats them."

DRINKS FROM DROPPER Saturday, Speckles sat on Mrs. Bishop's finger and ate hamburger contentedly. "Now watch," said Jerry, Mrs. Bishop's son.

Jerry filled a medicine dropper with water, whistled suggestively and Speckles opened wide his mouth. Jerry dropped in a big drop of water and the little bird swallowed contentedly.

INHERITED TRAIT "His mother was so friendly that she would let us poke a finger into the nest," Bishop recalls. "Guess that's where Speckles gets his friendliness."

"He's a funny little pet," Mrs. Bishop said. "When we first brought him into the house, he sat on the edge of that carton, pointing to a big pasteboard box under the table and never moved."

"But the last couple of days, he has followed me around the house and just like some little kitten, keeps getting under my feet."

"I hope," she added, "that one of these days, he'll return to his natural liking for the out-of-doors and stay there. Of course," she smiled ruefully, "when he does we're going to miss him."

AVC Opens 'Fun-Week' Monday City to See Fireworks Mansfield is going to have a fireworks display for the Fourth of July after all.

The American Veterans committee announced today that its "fun week" carnival at the Blue Goose showgrounds would open with an Independence Day celebration Monday at which an elaborate display of fireworks will be a feature.

"The greatest display of fireworks ever presented in Richland county," is the way the committee puts it.

Air Fleet Weakens Blockade

Carries Food To West Berlin

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The United States rushed a fleet of huge cargo planes to Germany today to help break a Russian blockade of ground transport to western Berlin.

As food supplies dwindled for 2,000,000 Berliners, diplomats predicted the western powers shortly would make a direct demand on the Kremlin to lift the traffic noose from their sectors.

Air Force headquarters announced here last night that about 89 of the big four-engine C-54 flying boxcars had been ordered to Germany to help ferry food and other urgently needed supplies into the American sector of Berlin.

The action gave one more indication of the determination of the United States, along with Britain and France, to stand fast and resist Soviet efforts to block rail, highway and canal transport into the city.

Officials here interpret the Russian actions as designed primarily to force the three western powers out of Berlin and then convert it into the communist-controlled capital of an eastern German state.

PLAN MOSCOW PROTEST A British foreign office spokesman said yesterday in London that the western nations were considering a direct "approach" to Moscow evidently in an effort to obtain an order from Premier Stalin which would reverse the Soviet policies in Berlin and ease the highly dangerous situation developing there.

State department officials had no comment on the British statement.

United States transport planes were arriving at Tempelhof airport in Berlin at eight-minute intervals today with food and other supplies.

A total of 120 planes was expected to fly the corridor over the Russian zone during the day to supply the U. S. Army post in Berlin and fill the most urgent needs of the 2,000,000 or so Germans in Berlin's three western sectors.

London Dock Tieup Grows LONDON — (AP) — Prime Minister Attlee said today the government has advised King George VI to declare a state of national emergency to deal with a wildcat dock strike that threatens the nation's food supplies.

A royal proclamation, the prime minister told the House of Commons, would empower the government to take all steps necessary to maintain essential food supplies.

Attlee also disclosed that Labor Minister George Isaacs has been recalled from a visit to San Francisco to deal with the work stoppage, which spread today to Liverpool and Birkenhead.

Another 9,000 men walked off the job in those two cities.

UE Approves Wage Raise Unanimous approval of the eight per cent wage increase offered union workers at Westinghouse was voted by approximately 500 members of Locals 711 and 759, UE-CIO, meeting yesterday in Johnny Appleseed junior high school.

Joseph Hawkins, president of the union, said the hourly increase and other economic issues gained in the contract, will be retroactive to June 11. The contract will be in effect until April 1, 1950, but a wage reopening clause permits new wage negotiations any time during 1949.

Army Hikes Estimate on Draft Call

Royal Announces Induction Plans

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Army estimated today that between 225,000 and 250,000 men probably will be inducted during the first year of the new military draft.

This is considerably above a previous estimate that 200,000 to 225,000 will be put into uniform during the period.

The first call for induction, starting soon after Sept. 22, will be "relatively small," Army Secretary Royal told a news conference. But he said the calls will increase until the average monthly induction rate is about 30,000.

Royal also announced the names of four World War II training centers to be reopened as division training centers for inductees and the expected 250,000 to 300,000 volunteers expected during the coming year.

They are Fort Riley, Kansas, Tenth Infantry (Mountain division); Camp Chaffee, Arkansas, Fifth Armored division; Camp Breckinridge, Kentucky, 101st Air Borne division, and Camp Pickett, Virginia, 17th Airborne division.

Four other training centers were announced, previously: Fort Ord, California; Fort Jackson, South Carolina; Fort Dix, New Jersey, and Fort Knox, Kentucky.

The draftees, aged 19-through-25 will serve for 21 months. About 30,000 men per month will be inducted into the army.

Secretary Royal gave the figures at a news conference as he disclosed plans for the new draft machinery.

Vandals Break 13 Windows At Applesseed

Malicious vandals had a bit of a field day over the week end. Clarence Swaidar, 147 Reba avenue, custodian of the Johnny Appleseed junior high school, reported to police today that 13 windows in the principal's office had been broken out between 4 p. m. June 25 and 1:30 p. m. yesterday.

Police investigation revealed that no attempt was made to enter the building. Other vandals broke open a door on a Mansfield Structural and Erecting company crane which was parked on Longview avenue and stole a fire extinguisher. They also lifted the hood of the motor, draining the oil out of the crankcase and tearing out all the wires.

Figures On Deaths Indefinite

Tidal Wave Warning Issued

TOKYO — (AP) — Three great earth shocks late today twisted the western Honshu town of Fukui like taffy, destroying the homes of most of the 85,000 population.

Japanese newspapers guessed the total of dead and injured might reach 5,000, but U. S. occupation authorities said first fears had proved excessive and declined to make an estimate.

Fires sprang up after the series of quakes which began at 4:12 p. m. Fanned by a brisk wind the fires destroyed half the city. They still raged six hours after the temblors. Forty thousand were homeless.

A fully equipped U. S. Army relief train was rushed to Fukui, coastal city fronting the Sea of Japan.

Army reports from its men on the scene said 10 persons were killed and 60 injured at Daishoji, 20 miles northeast of Fukui. Previous Japanese reports had said 300 were killed there. Five hundred Daishoji homes were destroyed.

Other Army reports said there was no fire and damage was slight at the big manufacturing city of Kanazawa. A long silence from the city of 186,000 persons had produced fears of a heavy toll.

Few American occupation personnel are stationed in the quake area.

TIDAL WAVES FEARED Tidal wave warnings were issued, Japanese, remembering the 44,000 thousand who died in the 1923 Tokyo quake, were jittery.

The heaviest damage appeared to be in three prefectures, Fukui, Ishikawa and Toyama.

Buildings in Tokyo—several hundred miles to the northeast—swayed and the quakes were felt at Nagoya, Kobe, Osaka and Kyoto.

(Honolulu reported a sharp earthquake there at 1:55 a. m. Honolulu time.)

The Osaka meteorological service said the first of three temblors struck at 7:12 a. m. Other reports placed the number of temblors at four.

Communications with the stricken area were disrupted. Meager reports received by the U. S. Army headquarters in Kyoto, which is about 75 miles from the hardest hit areas.

BUILDINGS FALL In Fukui, Asahi said 90 per cent of the town's buildings had collapsed.

One seven-story concrete department store fell in, the newspaper said.

The U. S. Eighth Army staff began work immediately after the quakes were reported in an effort to obtain reliable information on which to base relief measures.

However, four hours later they had received but fragmentary reports from Japanese sources. Attempts to contact military government teams in the area have been fruitless thus far.

A revised estimate by the meteorological service placed the center of the quake at the mouth of the Kuzuryu river close to Fukui city.

Kanazawa is the largest Japanese city on the Honshu west coast between Niigata and Matsuyama. It is a manufacturing city, located about 40 miles northwest of Fukui.

Meet Tonight On Underpass

Members of city council's street committee will meet at 7:30 tonight with a committee of north-side residents to discuss the feasibility of constructing a passenger and vehicular tunnel under the Erie and B. & O. railroads between Lawnsdale avenue and North Lake park.

The two groups will meet at the home of Marion Sackman, 593 McPherson street, one of the sponsors of the underpass proposal. The conferees will examine the site of the proposed underpass that would cost upwards of $200,000.

If the idea receives the blessing of council, Fred Miller, chairman of the street committee, said the money would have to be raised by a bond issue.

President Plans Active Campaign

WASHINGTON — (AP) — President Truman will make "an active, speaking campaign" for the presidency in the event of his nomination.

Press Secretary Charles G. Ross announced this today in answering reporters' questions. But he said no detailed plans have been made.

PHILADELPHIA — After sixteen years of drought and famine and itch, sixteen years of hiding in caves and living on roots and berries, the Republicans at last swaggered forth openly at Philadelphia looking for Democrats and especially for new dealers to push off the sidewalks.

They nominated Governor Thomas E. Dewey, of New York, for a second whirl at the presidency and, by contrast with the morose temper of the prophets and the faithful in four other Republican campaigns, not a soul in the House could doubt that this was their year to howl.

This would include all the journalists and radio pundits of the Roosevelt faith who realized, as practical fellows, that the racket was up.

If the Democrats in Washington had any sense left in their ghastly confusion, they must have been piling in deeps all the damning tax returns, the expense accounts and vouchers, the confidential chits of the treasury, justice, defense and state departments and putting in applications for turns at the incinerators, macerators and fathomless dumps at sea.

Governor Dewey has said nothing about vengeance, but he is a biblical man with a stinging memory of the ridicule and sneers shot at him through the blow-guns of Franklin D. Roosevelt, Ickes, Morgenthau, Eleanor the Great and many another during the long ordeal, anyway, he is a stickler for fidelity in office and a famous prosecutor.

All this while, and growing more reckless by the day as it got away with more and more outrageous floutings of civic decency and even of the criminal statutes, the Roosevelt administration conducted itself as though its only successors had been its own friends bent on similar felonies or worse.

Winston Churchill and the London publisher, Lord Beaverbrook, were among the foreign crew, who under Roosevelt's vain and cynical assurance, ignored the leading

Park Stand Burglarized Two Times

Ice Cream, Candy And Pop Stolen

Two burglaries of the Liberty park concession stand within a 24-hour period were under police investigation today. The breakings in followed another burglary at the stand only two weeks ago.

Taken from the stand in the two week-end burglaries, police said, were $90 worth of candy and gum and an undetermined amount of ice cream and soda pop.

At 6:45 a. m. Sunday, Andrew Karsmizki, park caretaker, reported to police that ice cream and soda pop had been stolen from the stand between 10:30 p. m. Saturday and 6:30 a. m.

SAME TECHNIQUE

Police said entry was gained by breaking out the east window, the same technique of entry used by burglars early Saturday when a steel box, containing candy and gum was found burning in the park, about 400 feet from the concession stand.

The box, padlocked, was pried open at both ends and emptied of as much candy and gum as could be reached through the openings, police said.

Karsmizki said some of the gum and candy was burning in the box when he discovered the fire. He said the theft took place between 8:45 p. m. Friday and 7 a. m. Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Karsmizki, 489 Fifth avenue, operators of the stand, said the concession booth had been entered two weeks ago when burglars broke through a south side window. Nothing was missing at that time, however.

SHOP BURGLARIZED

Police said they discovered a burglary at the Mum art shop, 272 North Mulberry street at 6:10 a. m. Sunday when they saw a screen removed from the shop window. Officers said $8 was missing from the cash register.

What is believed to have been an attempted burglary at an East Sixth street rooming house was reported at 4:05 a. m. today by Mrs. Mamie Brown, 84 East Sixth street.

Mrs. Brown said she found the front door and the door to her room open when she returned from work early today. She said the thief had ransacked her bureau drawers but that nothing was missing.

Since their organization, members have been practicing in the basement of the Park Avenue Baptist church, but their increasing membership has outgrown the basement quarters, Dr. Hoffman said.

Kitchen service for late "snacks" and adequate parking space will be available at the park.

Three Term Girls' State 'Wonderful'

Three 17-year-old girls had a single word today to describe their week-long experiences at the Ohio Girls' State in Columbus.

"It's wonderful," they said.

The three Mansfield girls who attended the Girls' State and learned by doing how government works were Dorothy Estep, of Madison high school; Frances Wojcik, Senior high school, and Marilyn Kyle, St. Peter's Catholic high school.

"It is very educational and you can't help learning all about government," said Miss Wojcik. "The only bad part is that it's limited to 354 girls."

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Wojcik, 1088 Fleming Falls road.

"It was a wonderful experience and the campus was beautiful," commented Miss Kyle. "I was on the board of elections and it was an especially interesting experience. It will help me to understand the workings behind the scenes in political affairs."

Miss Kyle is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald W. Kyle, 111 South Diamond street.

Miss Estep has become a serious-minded future voter as the result of her experience at Buckeye Girls' state. She has concluded that "it's everyone's duty to vote and to know the candidates."

The job of casting her first vote four years from now "will be a lot easier because of what I've learned at Girls' State," she said.

Dorothy, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond F. Estep, Piper road, is still a little breathless about all the fun the 354 high school girls had at the American Legion Auxiliary-sponsored project.

"Oh, it was wonderful!" she exclaimed. Then, returning to serious thought, she added, "We learned how city, county and state governments function and our roles in the community in which we live."

Dorothy served as "realist party" leader on the precinct board of elections.

Although the Madison high senior is not planning a political career for herself (she'd like to be a secretary), she is pledging her support to the big international job ahead.

"United Nations is the best thing politicians have ever thought of," she asserted. "If I can help make it work, you can bet I'm going to."

Dorothy was chosen to represent her school at the conference on the merit of her scholastic record and personality.

Besides Mrs. Long, she leaves another daughter, Mrs. Joseph Bishop of Adair, a son, John W. Bishop of Cleveland; a grandson, Kenneth B. Long of Seattle, Wash., and two granddaughters, Mrs. Harold Ashley and Jane Burton, both of Cleveland; and a half sister, Mrs. Esther Leach of Ashland.

Funeral services Wednesday at 1:30 p. m. in the Wapner funeral home will be in charge of Rev. Charles F. Sheriff, pastor of St. Matthew's Lutheran church. Burial will be in the Caledonia cemetery in Marion county. The body will remain at the late home until time of service.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

Mrs. Cora Reed Passes Away

Miss Langford is one of the Hollywood film stars who made hundreds of "personal appearance" visits to the American soldiers overseas during the war. She was a favorite with American GIs wherever she played. The two left the Mansfield airport at 9 a. m. yesterday.

Salvation Army Acts On Orders

Judge Expresses Regret at Move

The Salvation Army advisory board has decided to discontinue the juvenile detention home at the post, effective Dec. 31, 1948, Juvenile Judge Stuart H. Cramer reported today.

George H. Smith, chairman of the Salvation Army board, notified Judge Cramer and the county commissioners of the decision by letter.

Judge Cramer expressed disappointment at the board's decision. He expressed the gratitude of the court "for the co-operation we've had from the people in charge of the Salvation Army and the assistance they gave us and the youngsters."

He said the Salvation Army personnel had provided "home training for the youngsters, which has been a big factor in handling the juvenile problem."

APPEALS DECISION

"I'm going to do all in my power to see if the board will change its ruling. The Salvation Army is not only serving the court, but doing a very important social work to the community through the care they give the youngsters," Judge Cramer said.

Smith said the post does not have adequate facilities to operate a detention home and that the county had never made any arrangements to add facilities.

The detention home was set up on a temporary basis more than 15 years ago with the understanding a permanent home would be provided, he said.

Major William Jones of the Salvation Army said Donald McMillan, commander of the eastern U. S. territory of the Salvation Army, had asked that detention homes be discontinued.

BROADEN PROGRAM

Requests to close detention homes run by the Salvation Army have gone to all posts, Jones said, because the programs of the Army are being broadened.

John W. Selby, chairman of the board, said he didn't know what action would be taken as to new quarters until he obtains the opinion of the board.

The county paid $25 per month for the use of two rooms, $50 monthly for matron service and $60 a month for the janitor service. Meals were paid for at the rate of 50 cents each.

Swaying Wheat Fields Forecast Big Richland County Crop

Condition Better Than Last Year

Binder Harvest To Start Soon

By PAUL KELLAM
Richland county farmers are wearing broad smiles this week as they look over their wheat fields and make plans to harvest what looks like a "good" crop.

The wheat is in much better condition than last year when an unusually wet spring cut the crop drastically short. Weather yet-to-come is still a factor, of course, but farmers feel that some of the high temperature conditions such as made it hard to sleep at night a few days last week, could do a lot of good.

On the Oliver Rinehart farm just west of the Lexington-Springfield road on U. S. Route 30-N, a small patch of hybrid wheat beside the barn looks particularly good. The tops of the stalks reach well above a tall man's waist.

Rinehart is growing the patch for seed for next year. Altogether, he has planted some 40 acres of the grain for market.

C. J. Karcher, who has 36 acres of wheat on his well-kept farm near the Greter's Lake road west of Mansfield, said his crop looked "pretty good," too. Karcher will use a combine for his wheat harvest.

AWAITING COMBINE

Rinehart is keeping his eyes open for the arrival of a new combine which he has been trying to get for several years. He hopes it will come in time for this year's harvest.

With Richland county wheat growers that's another question: When will the harvest begin?

In normal years binders usually start through the fields about July 4 and combines get moving some two weeks later. The weatherman holds the key, farmers said.

Meanwhile, on the national scene, the wheat harvest in general looks good with the U. S. Department of Agriculture estimating a yield of 1,192,425,000 bushels, the second largest in history.

The National Grange association reported early this month, however, that wheat in Texas, Oklahoma and Kansas was "distinctly disappointing." The report said millions of acres seeded to wheat last fall had been plowed up to make room for other crops.

8 Richland Women Attend State Session

Eight Richland county women attended the meeting of the State Home Demonstration council on the campus of Ohio State university, June 15 and 16. Women of the council help the county home demonstration agent to plan and carry out the county program.

Attending from here were Mrs. Victor Stine, Shelby, district home council chairman; Mrs. Mary White, Shiloh; Mrs. Mary Brook, Shiloh; Mrs. Hugh Boyce, Shiloh; Mrs. Carl Dill, Mansfield, R. D. 1; Mrs. Harold Sapp, Mansfield, R. D. 1; Mrs. Doris Stotts, Mansfield, R. D. 5, and Miss Mabel Spray, home demonstration agent.

RAIN CUTS PEA CROP

Heavy and prolonged rains at planting time in northern Idaho and eastern Washington will result in a large reduction of the country's crop of dry edible peas.

GRANGES FIGHT DISEASE

Granges on the Pacific coast are devoting parts of their educational programs to spreading definite information about foot and mouth disease, a serious menace to that section.

IT LOOKS GOOD—The wheat looks good on the Oliver Rinehart farm on U. S. Route 30-N. Rinehart, who has some 40 acres in wheat this year, examines the crop in a small hybrid patch planted for seed.

Farmers See Demonstration Of DDT Use In Fly Control

Many Huron county dairy farmers last week attended demonstrations on spraying dairy barns and cattle with DDT for fly control. The demonstrations were held Thursday on the Albert Knoll farm and the William Smith and son farm and on Friday on the A. W. Lawrence farm and the Heyman brothers farm.

Acting Huron county extension agent, G. A. Hummon, said the demonstrations were similar to those conducted in 1947 when eight dairymen cooperated.

Results then were most satisfactory, he said, with the DDT on walls and ceilings remaining active all summer. Cattle sprayed with DDT were free of flies for at least two weeks following the spraying.

Huron Clubs Enroll 742

The report of the Huron County 4-H club to W. H. Palmer, state 4-H club leader, shows a total enrollment of 742 boys and girls. Some 785 farm projects, ranging from dairy cattle programs in farm club work through clothing projects in girls' club work, were represented.

The Huron county 4-H program began in 1919 and since that time enrollment has steadily increased. Many of the early members have now become a part of the corps of 90 advisers necessary to direct the program.

Miss Katherine McCague of Bronson township, is serving her 26th year as a 4-H club adviser. She was recognized recently for her service with the emerald award.

Twelve of the 26 girls' clubs and 28 farm clubs were organized in 1948.

GRANGE AIDS SCOUTS

Many granges in different states sponsor Boy Scout troops, usually holding meetings in Grange halls.

RECORD TIRE OUTPUT

Akron rubber manufacturers estimated this year's production of farm tires at over 5,500,000, the greatest number ever produced.

New Tomato Developed

Dr. L. J. Alexander, botanist at the Ohio Experiment station, Wooster, is proud of his latest offspring which he has named Ohio W.R. Globe.

The offspring, incidentally, is a new variety of tomato. Its greatest advantage is a remarkable resistance to fusarium wilt, no small item to tomato growers. In addition, the new variety will give increased yields, according to results of greenhouse tests conducted in 1946 and 1947.

Dr. Alexander began in 1942 by

Now's Time to Start Fight On European Corn Borer

Ohio's leading agricultural experts say that now is the time for farmers in the northern part of the state to begin insecticide control of the destructive European corn borer.

According to a report of C. S. Neiswander, entomologist at the Ohio Agricultural Experiment station at Wooster, the insects begin to hatch in the southern part of the state about June 10 or 12. They appear about two weeks later in the northern regions.

Neiswander said the best treatment is to apply DDT either as a spray or dust. He recommended a spray of one pound of technical DDT to 100 gallons of water.

For those who plan to dust their crops, a three per cent DDT dust can be used with 40 pounds applied per acre or a five per cent dust with 25 pounds applied per acre.

Whether dust or spray is used, four applications should be made at approximately five-day intervals.

Agriculturists explain that it is frequently a difficult problem for growers to determine whether their fields are likely to be damaged to the extent that insecticide treatment would be worthwhile.

Unfortunately it is impossible to delay treatment until severe injury appears and still get effective results. Growers are advised to watch their corn carefully for the appearances of corn borer eggs or signs of injury and be prepared to start treatments immediately.

Usually, it will not be necessary to treat sweet corn planted after May 25 in northern Ohio and after May 12 in the southern part of the state, Neiswander said. The definite answer to this question depends on the seasonal development and the strains grown.

Corn borer eggs are found in clusters of about 20 on the under surface of leaves, usually along the midrib. Agriculturists usually consider insecticide treatment worthwhile if egg clusters can be found at the rate of five clusters to 10 plants early in the season.

Junior Fair Board Elects Officers

The Huron county Junior fair board met Friday evening in the Huron county court house to consider several proposals of the executive committee regarding the constitution of the new organization.

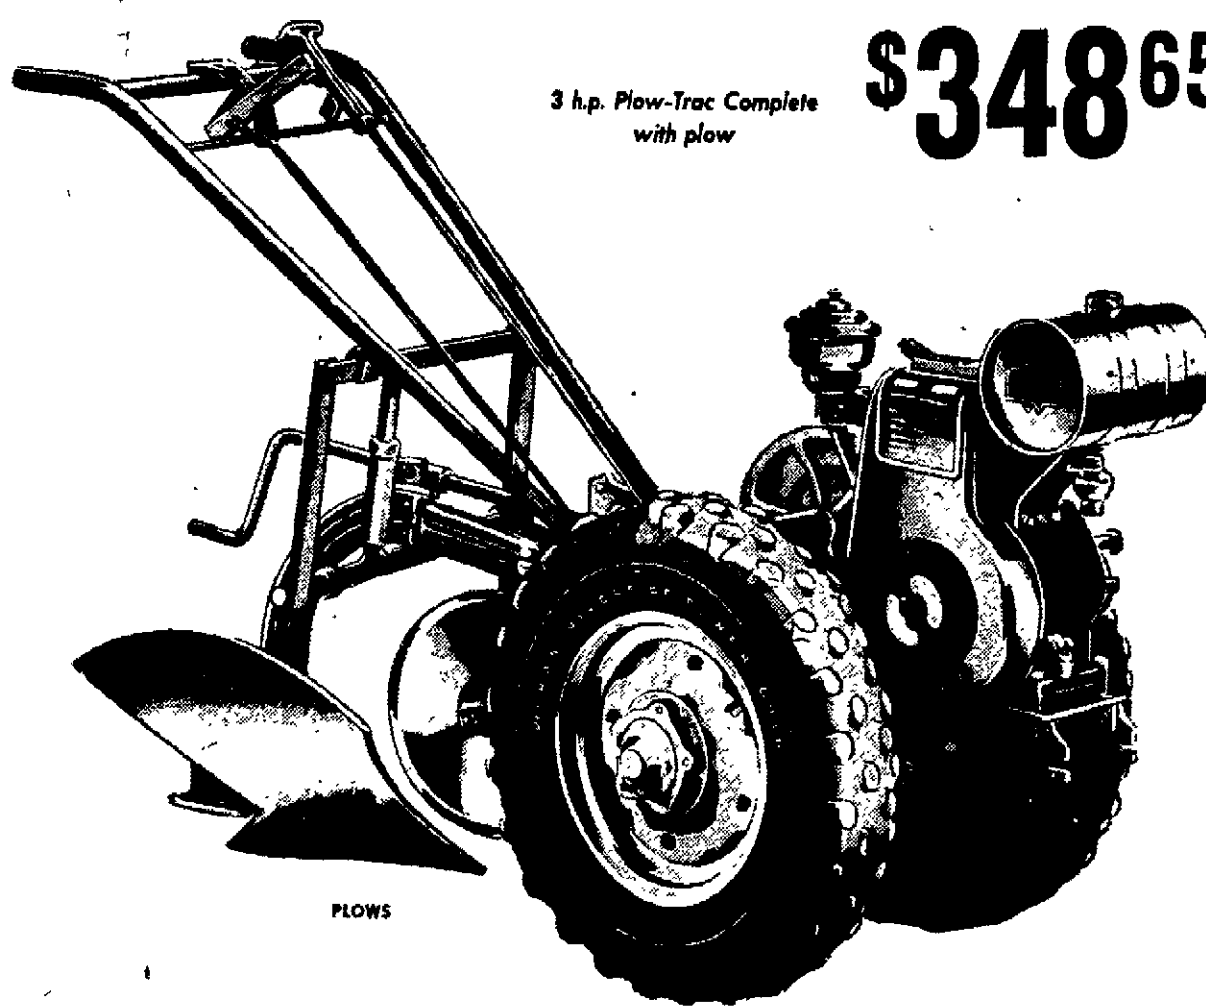

The executive committee elected Charles Moore, of Norwalk, as president of the group; Allen Todd, of Wakeman, as vice-president, and Ann Stackhouse, of Wakeman, as secretary-treasurer. Other members of the executive committee are Beatrice Best, Jams Meyer and William Erf.

THE FERTILITY OF ITS SOIL

... gave Richland County its name, and continues to be a major factor for prosperity. Johnny Applesseed planted nurseries here a century and a half ago. In the 1840's, 50's and 60's this was one of the country's great wheat producing areas. To this day its progressive farmers enjoy a deserved prosperity.

Two OSR Inmates Flee Dairy Barn

Mansfield reformatory officials continued a search today for two inmates who escaped from the institution's dairy barn about 8 p. m. Saturday.

Supr. Arthur L. Glatke identified the escapees as Leslie Riffe, 22, of Hocking county, and James Kirby, 17, of Muskingum county.

Riffe was received Oct. 17, 1946, to serve one to two years for the auto theft. Kirby, a juvenile delinquent, was serving a one year term also for auto theft.

CROP Meeting Set Tuesday

New Cancer Clue Studied

Young Chemist Makes Discovery

NEW YORK—(AP)—One of the hottest projects in cancer is going on in a new, spic and span laboratory at Memorial hospital here.

Chief medical sleuth there is Dr. David Pressman, a young chemist who formerly worked in California. He has turned up a hopeful clue—a development that may lead to more effective treatment for cancer.

The new clue is tagging antibodies with radioactive atoms. Antibodies are sub microscopic protein molecules that the body creates to attack foreign substances. They are so small that you could line up 2,000,000 of them and the column would not measure more than an inch.

First announcement of Dr. Pressman's work came some weeks ago by Dr. Cornelius P. Rhoades, director of Memorial. The work has been progressing, and Dr. Pressman disclosed today that the research is about to enter a second phase.

First phase of the work was to determine whether a specific antibody could be made to serve as a carrier for a radioactive substance—material such as is produced in the atomic ovens at Oak Ridge, Tenn.

Dr. Pressman confirmed again that kidney antibodies could be developed.

The big challenge, Dr. Pressman said, will come when tests are made to determine whether tumor tissue also will serve as an antigen, or an agent that will cause antibodies to be formed.

This is the new phase now going on at Memorial.

13-Year-Old Drive Ends In Victory

Clean-up Campaign Started Movement

CINCINNATI — (AP) — A 13-year fight against pollution of the Ohio river will reach a victorious conclusion here Wednesday when governors of eight states gather to affix their signatures to the Ohio river valley water sanitation compact.

The ceremonial signing will be held in the Hotel Netherland Plaza's Hall of Mirrors.

Governors of most of the eight states which have entered into the compact are scheduled to attend. Local officials were uncertain, however, whether New York's Governor Thomas E. Dewey, Republican presidential nominee, would be on hand.

Other governors expected are: Thomas J. Herbert, Ohio; James H. Duff, Pennsylvania; Ralph H. Gates, Indiana; Dwight H. Green, Illinois; Earle C. Clements, Kentucky; William M. Tuck, Virginia; and Clarence W. Meadows, West Virginia.

The battle against pollution of the nation's second largest river was the brain child of the 1934 cleanup and beautification committee of the Cincinnati Chamber of Commerce. The group, interested in making its program a year-round cleanup activity, adopted a resolution asking that sewage disposal be made part of the Little Miami river conservancy program, then being planned, or any other flood control or conservation project.

The resolution received such widespread, favorable comment that the late William F. Wiley, publisher of the Cincinnati Enquirer and at that time president of the Chamber of Commerce, asked Hudson Biery, a local leader in the pollution fight, to head a committee against pollution not just of the Little Miami, but of the entire Ohio river. The committee had its organization meeting in 1935.

OTHERS JOIN BATTLE

The Cincinnati group and others, such as the Ohio Valley Improvement association which joined in the battle, realized the best way to attack the pollution problem would be by a compact among themselves.

Congress ratified the compact in 1936 and passed a final ratifying amendment in 1940.

Indiana and West Virginia had adopted the compact in March of 1939; Ohio in May, New York in June and Illinois in July of the same year. Kentucky approved it in March, 1940, as Pennsylvania in April, 1945. Virginia's general assembly passed it March 5 of this year and was the last such ratification needed.

Tennessee may also become a signatory, making the compact completely inclusive of all territory draining into the Ohio river.

The core of the compact sets up minimum requirements for treatment and discharge of municipal sewage and industrial waste, with provisions that even higher degrees of treatment may be ordered by the compact commissioners, 27 in all from the various states, who will be in charge of administering the compact.

The commissioners, appointed by the governors, will remain in Cincinnati Thursday for their organization meeting. Eventually the commission will establish a central office.

Barnes Speaks To Youth Rally

"Guaranteed Returns" was the subject of the address given by James H. Barnes of Detroit, when he spoke to the Youth for Christ rally Saturday night in the John Simpson auditorium.

Barnes, assistant purchasing agent for the Ford Motor company, stressed two points: "What a man soweth, that shall he also reap" and "He that honoreth God will also be honored by God."

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Sorenson presented a musical program of songs and duets with Mrs. Sorenson at the piano.

Miss Elnora Jundt, who has resigned as secretary of the rally, was presented with a farewell gift.

An impromptu quiz was held with "Youth for Christ" magazines given as prizes.

The next meeting will be held at the John Simpson auditorium on July 31 at 7:30 p. m.

Red Journal Flays Tito

PRAGUE — (UP) — The communist organ Rudo Pravo said today that Yugoslav communists have been purged from the cominform on the grounds that Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia is guilty of Trotskyism and anti-Sovietism.

Rudo Pravo published a communiqué reporting that meeting of the cominform (communist information bureau) was held in "mid-June" in Romania—presumably at Bucharest—at which the "situation in the communist party" of Yugoslavia was discussed.

It added that Yugoslav communists "refused to come to the meeting of the information bureau."

The communiqué devoted eight long and bitter paragraphs to accusing Marshal Tito (his real name is Josip Broz and he was a leader of communist partisans during the war) of almost every crime in the communist book.

Tito and his Yugoslav government were charged with crimes ranging from Trotskyism and anti-Sovietism to "ineptness" and "false demagogic tactics."

No definite sanctions against Tito and his followers were announced, but the communiqué called upon the "healthy core" of Yugoslav communism to "bring its leaders to see the error of their ways."

When she recovers, she will go to southern France for a rest, said her husband, Henry J. (Bob) Topping. Topping is accompanying her on the tour.

More Showers Due Tonight

Mansfielders were offered little hope of relief today from the muggy heat which drove them to city parks and shady lawns yesterday. Thundershowers late in the day failed to lower the temperatures for very long.

Forecaster Milton Davis said that scattered thundershowers tonight and tomorrow would bring only temporary relief. The forecast is continued warm and humid. Yesterday's high was 83 at 4 p. m., today's low 68 at 5:30 a. m.

Problem of Financing Pay Raises

ACCORDING to a survey of Ohio cities, comparable in size to Mansfield, members of Mansfield's police and fire departments are justified in seeking pay increases as there is no appearance of good reason why their salaries should be lower than those of men similarly employed in other cities of approximately the same population.

Public employment, however, involves requirement that money paid out in salaries and wages be kept within the limits of funds available for that purpose and as all of this money is derived from some form of taxation it becomes necessary to increase funds to the extent of covering the added outlay.

It is not the simple matter, therefore, of city council merely granting requests for pay increases as the situation is complicated by the necessity of making sure that sufficient money will be coming in to meet payrolls as well as to carry on the other functions of municipal government.

It is little wonder that conscientious and experienced Councilman C. N. Shultz, as chairman of the finance committee, should insist that financial phases of the prospective action be fully considered, so that there will be assurance of sufficient funds to meet the proposed increase in obligations.

Elsewhere on this page is a communication which well states the case of the city's police department personnel, and in its reference to need for higher pay to meet present excessive living costs it may also be regarded as applicable to men in the fire department . . . in fact to all persons in public and private employment whose income has not kept pace with the upward trend in prices.

Buy Security Bonds If Possible

LITTLE that has not been said before can be added to arguments favorable to purchase of United States savings bonds by everyone who can lay a little money aside for future use.

This week has been designated as Security Loan week, during which emphasis will be renewed on the advantages of regular purchases of bonds, either on a bond-a-month basis or through a payroll deduction plan.

These methods of investing savings in government securities came into strong favor during the war, and many people have continued this form of safe investment ever since. High costs of commodities, however, have tended to discourage some others who have found it difficult to make income reach outgo, and it is regrettable that there are some who have even found it necessary to cash bonds which they secured earlier.

There should be no hesitancy, among those who find it possible to accumulate even a small surplus, to put this extra money into government bonds, which not only assure safety of principal but return a quite satisfactory interest if held until maturity.

Death Ends Noteworthy Career

FOR HALF a century the name of Louis H. Brush has been identified with Ohio journalism.

The distinguished chairman of the board of the Brush-Moore newspapers, who died at the age of 76 while attending the Republican national convention, developed several struggling publications into solid enterprises.

A native of Alliance, where both his parents were professors of Mt. Union college, he was graduated from the college, and later became its treasurer and one of its trustees and benefactors. His first job was in the circulation department of the Alliance Review, and the business side of newspaper work proved to be his field.

With Roy D. Moore and William H. Vodrey he formed the Brush-Moore Newspapers, Inc., which now owns papers in Marion, Salem, Canton, East Liverpool, Steubenville, Portsmouth and a half interest in Ironton Tribune.

In addition to his business activities, Louis Brush found time for a multitude of friendships and social contacts, for which he had an exceptional gift. His friendliness and democratic nature made him deservedly popular.

Italy Shaking Off Communists

ITALIAN AMBASSADOR Albert Tarchiani, who recently has returned from a two-week stay in his own country, avers that the April elections there marked the beginning of a downward trend in the course of communism.

There is always a group in any party which is held to it less by conviction than by a belief that the party may be on the way to the top. Such members are doubtless among those who have left the communist fold in Italy since the result of the elections became known.

Another factor is the new government, which, according to Tarchiani, is strong and stable, both in respect to the purpose of co-operating with ECA and for handling any disruptive circumstances which may arrive.

Human nature being what it is, perhaps it is only in defeat that the enduring strength of a party can be measured.

It is being belatedly noted that at no time during the Philadelphia convention did a speaker pay tribute to the "broad sea of intelligent faces" that confronted him.

Consider 'Your Friend, the Policeman'

Editor's Note—The following contribution, submitted by Capt. C. W. Kyler, of the Mansfield police department, presents arguments favorable to pay increases for members of that department as well as containing interesting information about the variety of tasks imposed upon patrolmen aside from their regular duties.

By CAPT. C. W. KYLER

A POLICEMAN'S duty as an officer of the law is to protect life and property. The policeman, being human, goes far beyond the call of duty to render many valuable services to the citizens of his community.

mother and oftentimes policemen have successfully delivered children before the doctor's arrival.

Neither time nor space will permit the enumeration of the countless services a policeman is called upon to perform outside the call of duty, which he gladly does without thought of reward.

Many of us take our policeman for granted, never for a moment giving thought to the fact that he too has a family, with its attendant financial responsibilities and with the steady increase in the cost of living he, too, is entitled to an increase in wages.

No man, regardless of his occupation, can be happy in the knowledge that the wages he receives are insufficient to maintain his family according to the good American standard of living.

Timely Editorial

Canada's Common Sense.

The Canadian government reveals that it now is barring both Communists and Fascists from federal positions of "trust." The policy is implemented by inter-departmental committees in the ranks of federal workers themselves to act as security panels. Searching and detailed questionnaires must be answered by all employees in the departments affected.

Canada, of course, has experienced the hard lesson of having an actual, alien-batched conspiracy unmasked which—had it been successful—would have given a possible potential enemy important atomic secrets.

Nevertheless in setting a common-sense example of locking the barn before the horse is stolen, our neighbor to the north has set an example that our government might follow to its own benefit.—Columbus Dispatch.

Great Game of Politics

By THOMAS L. STOKES

THE DEALS that go on at national political conventions, whether Republican or Democratic, serve to lay bare the influence of great economic interests that play out their game through the delegates who seemingly are there to represent all of us in a more idealistic—or "vox populi"—capacity.

Nothing better dramatizes the fact, than our political conventions do, that ours is, after all, a nation of business. The process produces some strange compromises that belie the professions of candidates and the eloquent pledges of platforms.

The Republican convention followed tradition in that respect.

Typical was the alliance involved in the first break that came for Governor Thomas E. Dewey—the alliance with the powerful economic interests embodied in the Pennsylvania Manufacturers' association, that high-protective-tariff organization whose objectives are so at variance with the reciprocal trade program, espoused by the international wing of the party with which Governor Dewey is identified, and with any kind of progressivism in domestic policy.

It might seem a queer alliance. But it is not so in practical politics. It was the practical thing to do. It brought to Governor Dewey the support of a bloc of delegates from Pennsylvania, including Senator Martin, former governor, who signaled the alliance by withdrawing as the state's favorite son and accepting the role of nominating the New York governor.

It was the first of a series of psychological strokes designed to keep up the momentum of the Dewey candidacy. It was most bitterly resented by the state's governor, James H. Duff, who is engaged in a feud with this wing of the party in Pennsylvania, known as "the Grundy group."

Name Revives Memories.

STILL around as a symbol of the Pennsylvania Manufacturers' association and the philosophy it represents is the aged Joseph R. Grundy, though he has yielded the presidency of the association, which he held so long, to a younger man. Mason G. Oviatt, his successor, also happens to be the Republican national committee man from Pennsylvania, which indicates the relationship of this powerful business element with direction of the Republican party nationally.

The name "Joe Grundy" brings back memories of another era. It connotes big business that insists upon its say in government and which, in that other day, did it more crudely, directly and bluntly. Now, it is just as effective, but is more suave and polite about it.

It brings back that day, 18 years ago, when Joe Grundy appeared before the Caraway lobby investigating committee of the United States. A rather arrogant gentleman, he told how he had raised some $700,000 for the Republican party in Pennsylvania, how he expected Pennsylvania, as a great industrial state, to have a big voice in government, and how he thought that what he called "the backward states, should 'talk damn small' in government.

In short, those who pay the piper should benefit. He was brutally realistic. Also, during that session, he was drawn out to reminisce about the famous "smoke-filled room" in the Blackstone hotel in Chicago in 1920, where Warren G. Harding was picked as the Republican presidential nominee. Mr. Grundy was present on that occasion.

Another alliance made by the Dewey forces following the Pennsylvania maneuver, as a means of keeping the bandwagon rolling, was with Rep. Charles A. Halleck of Indiana, Republican House floor leader.

Halleck announced at the appropriate time his withdrawal as Indiana's "favorite son" and delivered that state's block of 29 votes to Governor Dewey.

Charlie Halleck not only belongs to the "national ring" of the party, as he has demonstrated in the House, but, as he likewise has demonstrated, he is a leader of the party's conservative wing. He helped throw up the blockade in the House against housing and other social welfare legislation and against expansion of the government's public-power program. He speaks for big special interests, which hardly seems compatible with the progressivism that Governor Dewey professes.

Six Men Blocked Vote on Housing Bill

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—One of the most important voters in the closing days of Congress was held in strictest secrecy, though it affected several million people. It was the vote of the House rules committee to prevent the housing bill from reaching the floor of the Congress where other congressmen could vote on it. However, this column has now obtained that secret vote.

The Taft Housing Bill, with provisions for slum-clearance and low-cost housing, had long before passed the Senate. It also passed the House banking and currency committee after Congressman Jesse Wolcott of Michigan pigeonholed it for weeks.

Finally it went to the rules committee, which has the power to decide whether any bill can come before the full House for a vote. And that was as far as it got. While thousands of veterans waited for long-promised housing to materialize, six Republicans on the committee voted thumbs down.

Naturally they tried to keep their names secret. However, here is the rollcall of the six men who flouted the will of the majority of Congress and wouldn't even let 400 odd other congressmen vote:

Leo Allen, of Illinois, chairman of the rules committee; James Wadsworth of New York, who while voting with the real estate interests on this, simultaneously demanded that young men be drafted; Edgar Chenoweth of Colorado; Ross Ritzley of Oklahoma whose law firm represented some of the big natural gas companies while he authored a rate-increase bill for the gas companies; Forest Harness of Indiana, and Robert Rich of Pennsylvania.

Two Democrats present voted for the housing bill: Howard Smith of Virginia and Adolph Sabath of Illinois.

That was how the Taft Housing Bill containing the hopes of millions was buried.

Breaks Pledge.

RUN-OUT COX—One interesting gentleman who walked out at the last minute on the housing bill was Congressman Gene Cox of Georgia.

Cox is a key man on the rules committee, claims to have great influence. Before the vote came off, Cox sent a telegram to his home district promising to support the housing bill.

"You may assure all interested that I will do everything in my power to see that a rule is granted promptly for House consideration," Cox wired Hudson Malone, director of the Albany, Ga., housing authority.

"The bill will have my strongest support with the hope that it will be passed before adjournment."

But just before the vote came, Cox got up and ducked out of the rules committee. News of his run-out, of course, did not get back home to his home voters.

Woman Amazes Senators.

Forthright Lady—One of the few Truman appointees to be confirmed by the Senate during the last-minute rush of Congress was Miss Freida Hennock, the first lady ever appointed to the Federal Communications commission. Miss Hennock was confirmed not only because of her ability but because of her amazing frankness.

Called before the Republican-dominated interstate commerce committee, Miss Hennock, appointed as a Democrat, told the senators:

"I'm against you and I always have been. I have done my best to collect money for Roosevelt and have probably taken a lot of good Republican money away from what you wanted to collect."

"Do you know anything about radio?" asked one Republican senator.

"Only that I've raised a lot of money for radio programs for Roosevelt," replied Miss Hennock. Senator Brewster of Maine wanted to know what Miss Hennock thought of Mary Martin of Maine, who last year was considered as a possible appointee to the FCC.

"I didn't know her," replied the lady Democrat from New York. "But I think that women haven't had nearly the recognition they deserved since they got suffrage. If they have brains and ability they should not be penalized merely because they wear a skirt."

The amazed senators, taken back by Miss Hennock's frankness, asked many questions, all of them courteous and friendly. When the hearing was over, the prospective FCC commissioner told the committee:

"You're much too nice. I hope you don't confirm me and that you'll call me back here every week."

But they didn't, they confirmed her right away.

Note—The FCC is composed of a certain number of Democrats and a certain number of Republicans so that Miss Hennock's political affiliation as a Democrat was not help against her by the Republicans.

Politics In Education.

Education Blowup—The U. S. Office of Education, which for long years under Roosevelt was kept out of partisan politics, is now headed for a blowup.

E. B. Norton, deputy commissioner of education, has resigned in a huff over political censorship. He is sore at energetic Oscar Ewing, new federal security administrator, who is the over-all boss of the Office of Education.

Ewing was former vice-chairman of the Democratic National committee and is an "all-out" Truman man. Another resignation in the office is that of Educational Commissioner John Studebaker himself.

Deputy Commissioner Norton in a letter of resignation laid it right on the line against Oscar Ewing's political interference.

"I would be less than frank . . . if I should neglect to say that one major factor in my decision to leave the Office of Education has been my dissatisfaction and deep concern . . . over the rate at which the political administration of the Federal Security Agency is taking place. . . . I cannot look with complacency upon rapidly developing trends to subject the professional bureau that is the Office of Education to increasing controls on the part of numerous persons planted in the structural organization at levels between the commissioner of education and the administrator of the Federal Security Agency. . . .

"Nor can I be pleased," continued Norton, "with the extent to which administrative decisions have been made and subsequent executive orders arbitrarily issued without adequate opportunity for democratic discussion of the principles involved."

Government Winding Up Financial Fiscal Year In Black

Taxes Bring In Total of 45 Billions

Increased Revenue Absorbs Tax Cut

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Government bookkeepers are dipping deep into the black ink to wind up the nation's financial activities this year.

Which is to say that the treasury took in a lot more money than it spent in the "past fiscal year. Among the money records set is the all-time high surplus of about $8,000,000,000.

The fiscal year ends with the close of business Wednesday. The government, like most businesses, operates on a fiscal year beginning July 1 and ending June 30.

The final figures aren't all in, but the new records look something like this:

Surplus: $8,000,000,000.

Peacetime income: $45,000,000,000.

National debt payment: $7,000,000,000.

The surplus is the second since the pre-New Deal days. Last fiscal year there was a surplus of $754,000,000. The surplus this year and last was achieved through the highest peace-time tax rates in the nation's history.

If taxes had not been cut by Congress this year, the government's income would have even topped the all-time flow of cash into the treasury in the 1945 war year.

LITTLE DROP MADE

As it was, the $45,000,000,000 which the government took in this year, was only slightly less than in 1945. If there had been no cut, experts estimate that $600,000,000 more would have gone to the treasury.

The government spent $37,000,000,000 this year. Of the $8,000,000,000 surplus, $7,000,000,000 was used during the year as payments on the national debt. About $1,000,000,000 was used to increase the treasury's cash balance to make sure the government's checks don't bounce.

Consequently, the staggering public debt has been reduced to $251,712,000,000 from almost $259,000,000,000 in the past 12 months. That, of course, reduced the interest charges which the government must pay on the debt. In the three main categories of taxes, receipts all were higher than last year.

The government got $12,000,000,000 through withholding taxes, or about $2,000,000,000 more than last year; $20,000,000,000 from other income tax levies, or $700,000,000 more than last year; and $9,000,000,000 from business taxes as compared to $8,000,000,000 in fiscal 1947.

It is interesting to note that in the three postwar fiscal (1946-47-48) years the government took in a total of $131,287,000,000, compared with $18,159,000,000 in the three prewar years (1939-40-41).

Spending in the three postwar fiscal years totalled $144,524,000,000, as compared to $30,416,000,000 in the three prewar years.

Consequently, income in the postwar years was more than seven times that of the three prewar years. Spending has been almost five times that of the prewar period.

Contends Handshake Fractured His Arm

AKRON — (AP) — John E. Lowe sr., filed an $8,000 personal injury suit in common pleas court Saturday, claiming an extra strong handshake resulted in a broken arm and interfered with his employment.

Lowe's petition declared that "with deliberate disregard for Lowe's safety and well being," Edward S. Smith "continued the pressure when called upon to assist and with a jerk broke the plaintiff's arm."

The petition said the handshake took place in a North Hill cafe earlier this month.

Pago Pago's Famed Hotel Rots Away

'Sadie Thompson' Made It Known

PAGO PAGO, American Samoa — (AP) — Sadie Thompson's hotel, where Somerset Maugham's missionary wrestled so disastrously with the soul of a Honolulu harlot, looks out on one of the most beautiful harbors in the South Seas.

But the Sadie Thompson hotel lurks like a flaw in this jeweled setting. It is a battered, dilapidated old wreck of a two-story frame building, almost—but not quite—a castaway. It needs paint.

Its recent history is hardly more savory than its fictional past. Sesela Brown and his wife Tupe, half-castes from western (New Zealand) Samoa, leased the hotel and waited for the expected postwar influx of tourists. The tourists never came.

The lease expires next April, several months before Sesela's anticipated release from jail where he is serving an 18-month sentence for theft of government gasoline. Tupe was sentenced to one year.

The hotel figured in the conspiracy. Gasoline drawn by the driver of a government truck was smuggled into the kitchen for temporary storage. Brown ran a taxi service.

OFFERED FOR SALE
Recently the Meredith estate, heirs of an early island trader, offered the hotel for sale. High bidder, at $12,500, was "Iax Haleck, a "bush merchant" who has thrived on 34 years of trade with Samoans.

The sale has not been consummated because Brown successfully sued to retain possession until his lease expires.

If Haleck does acquire ownership, the hotel will pass into the hands of a "man" without a country. Haleck renounced his German citizenship in 1938. There is no such thing as Samoan citizenship and he cannot become an American national.

Haleck wants the property. It is one of the few sites a person of less than three-fourths Samoan blood may own in American Samoa. In all, only about 40 acres are freehold.

"I don't know what I am going to do with the hotel," Haleck said. "I made a lot of money here during the war and I might as well plow it back into Samoa."

So the future of the Sadie Thompson hotel, uncertain in Somerset Maugham gave it a name and unsavory reputation. The play, "Rain," spread its lurid fame around the world. The present operator spends his nights in jail and works by day on a garbage truck. Ravaged by neglect and the tropical climate, the hotel's appearance matches its reputation.

Across the bay, old rainmaker pokes his peak into ever, passing cloud and precipitates its moisture. At the Sadie Thompson hotel in Pago Pago, just like in the story, it rains, rains, rains.

Makes His Life Story Pay

LA GRANDE, Ore. — (AP) — C. L. Fallwell is getting his life story published.

Once each week he pays classified advertising rates to run an installment in the classified section of the Evening Observer.

This week's was Chapter 8—"The Terrible Rainstorm With Thunder and Lightning."

The biography is going to be in three parts — got the idea from Winston Churchill, he says — and as many chapters as needed to cover at least 70 years.

The weekly installment runs for nearly two columns — but the cost isn't all lost. The last paragraph is an invitation to visit his farm market. Readers do, he says.

Workers Advised to Check Security Numbers on Checks

Wage earners should check the social security number shown on their pay checks or pay envelopes, Edward P. Blonston, manager of the Mansfield office of the Social Security Administration, advised today.

If the number is not correct, the worker should check with his employer to see that the number is corrected or check his wage record in Baltimore by obtaining a post card from the social security office for that purpose.

Women who marry should bring their cards, bearing their maiden names to the social security office and obtain another card, with the same number, showing the married name.

Blonston warned workers that the size of retirement or survivors benefits that will be paid depends entirely upon the amount of wages that have been reported. Benefits may be reduced materially if all wages are not reported.

The Social Security Administration office for this area is located at 405 Richland Trust building.
